- any inability to obtain financing for future acquisitions could adversely affect the growth of the portfolio;
- ownership rights in some of MEL's properties may be declared invalid or limited; and
- MEL's failure to satisfy a complex series of requirements pursuant to Japanese tax regulations would disqualify MEL from certain taxation benefits and significantly reduce the cash distributions to the unitholders.

In addition, MEL is subject to potential risks related to:

- increasing operating costs;
- MEL's dependence on the efforts of the AIFM's key personnel;
- the restrictive covenants under debt financing arrangement;
- a high LTV ratio;
- a downgrading of MEL's credit rating;
- entering into forward commitment contracts;

- changes in Japanese tax laws;
- investment in real estate outside Japan; and
- the AIFMD may negatively affect MEL's ability to market its units within the European Economic Area ("EEA") and increase compliance costs associated with the marketing of MEL's units in the EEA.

Any applicable investment restrictions

MEL is subject to investment restrictions under Japanese laws and regulations (e.g., the Act on Investment Trusts and Investment Corporations (the "ITA"), the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act (the "FIEA") as well as its articles of incorporation.)

MEL must invest primarily in specified assets as defined in the ITA. Specified assets include, but are not limited to, securities, real estate, leaseholds of real estate, surface rights (chijō-ken) (i.e., right to use land for the purpose of having a structure on it) or trust beneficiary interests for securities or real estate, leaseholds of real estate or surface rights.

Furthermore, a listed J-REIT must invest substantially all of its assets in real estate, real estate-related assets, and liquid assets as provided by the listing requirements. Real estate in this context includes, but is not limited to, real estate, leaseholds of real estate, surface rights, and trust beneficiary interests for these assets, and real estate-related assets in this context include, but are not limited to, anonymous association (tokumei kumiai) interests for investment in real estate. A J-REIT that lists its units on the Tokyo Stock Exchange must also comply with the Investment Trusts Association, Japan rules, which require the J-REIT to invest more than 50% of its assets in real estate and asset backed securities investing primarily in real estate, which include, but are not limited to, real estate, leaseholds of real estate, surface rights or trust beneficiary interests for real estate, surface rights or leaseholds of land. Pursuant to the ITA, investment corporations may not independently develop land for housing or to construct buildings, but may outsource such activities in certain circumstances.

The basic investment policy of MEL is set out in MEL's articles of incorporation. Moreover, the Asset Manager has established investment guidelines to provide a more detailed framework based on this basic policy.

Circumstances in which the AIF may use leverage

MEL may take out loans or issue long- or short-term investment corporation bonds for the purpose of investing in properties, conducting repairs, paying cash distributions, repaying obligations (including repayment of tenant leasehold or security deposits, and obligations related to loans or investment corporation bonds) and other activities.

The types and sources of leverage permitted and associated risks	MEL currently has outstanding loans, all of which are unsecured and not subject to guarantees. MEL may violate restrictive covenants contained in the loan agreements MEL executes, such as the maintenance of debt service coverage or loan-to-value ratios, which may entitle the lenders to require MEL to collateralize the properties or demand that the entire outstanding balance be paid. MEL may also become subject to additional restrictive covenants in connection with any future indebtedness that may restrict the operations and limit the ability to make cash distributions to unitholders, to dispose of the properties or to acquire additional properties. Further, in the event of an increase in interest rates, to the extent that MEL has any debt with unhedged floating rates of interest or MEL incurs new debt, interest payments may increase, which in turn could reduce the amount of cash available for distributions to unitholders. Higher interest rates may also limit the capacity for short- and long-term borrowings, which would in turn limit the ability to acquire properties, and could cause the market price of the units to decline.

MEL is not involved in or threatened by any legal arbitration, administrative or other proceedings, the results of which might, individually or in the aggregate, be material.

MEL is a corporate-type investment trust in the form of investment corporation ( $t\bar{o}shi\ h\bar{o}jin$ ) provided for under the ITA. Therefore, the relationship between MEL and its unitholders is governed by MEL's articles of incorporation (as opposed to individual agreements), which can be amended from time to time upon resolution of a general meeting of unitholders. MEL's articles of incorporation stipulate rules relating to general meetings of unitholders, including the convocation, setting of record date, exercise of voting rights, resolutions and election of MEL's directors.

The relationship between MEL and its unitholders is also governed by, and is subject to the provisions of, Japanese law, including the ITA.

The courts in Japan would recognize as a valid and final judgment any final and conclusive civil judgment for monetary claims (which, for this purpose, are limited to those of a purely civil nature and do not include monetary claims of the nature of criminal or administrative sanction, such as punitive damages, even though they take the form of civil claims) against MEL obtained in a foreign court provided that (i) the jurisdiction of such foreign court is admitted under the laws of Japan, (ii) MEL has received service of process for the commencement of the relevant proceedings, otherwise than by a public notice or any method comparable thereto, or has appeared without any reservation before such foreign court, (iii) neither such judgment nor the relevant proceeding is repugnant to public policy as applied in Japan, (iv) there exists reciprocity as to the recognition by such foreign court of a final judgment obtained in a Japanese court and (v) there is no conflicting judgment on the subject matter by any Japanese court.

Article 23(1)(i)

Description of all fees, charges and expenses and a maximum amount which is directly / indirectly borne by the investors Compensation: The articles of incorporation provide that MEL may pay its executive officer up to 800 thousand yen per month and each of its supervisory officers up to 300 thousand yen per month. The board of officers is responsible for determining a reasonable compensation amount for the executive officer and each of the supervisory officers.

Asset Manager: MEL pays the Asset Manager asset management, acquisition and disposition fees as follows:

- Asset Management Fee. The Asset Manager receives asset management fees, which comprises a type 1 asset management fee, type 2 asset management fee and a type 3 asset management fee as described below.
  - Type 1 asset management fee. MEL pays to the Asset Manager a type 1 asset management fee for each fiscal period. This type 1 asset management fee of up to 0.2% per fiscal period of MEL's total assets (as stated in MEL's balance sheet at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal period prepared in accordance with Japanese GAAP) is payable by MEL within three months of the settlement day for the relevant fiscal period.
  - Type 2 asset management fee. MEL pays to the Asset Manager a type 2 asset management fee for each fiscal period. This type 2 asset management fee of up to 5.0% per fiscal period of MEL's adjusted net operating income is payable within three months of the settlement day for the relevant fiscal period. Adjusted net operating income is calculated by subtracting property-related expenses (excluding depreciation, custodian fees and loss on retirement of fixed assets) from propertyrelated revenues.
  - Type 3 asset management fee. MEL pays to the Asset Manager a type 3 asset management fee for each fiscal period. This type 3 asset management fee is payable within three months of the settlement day for the relevant fiscal period. The type 3 asset management fee comprises A and B, calculated as follows: A: (i) adjusted net income before tax multiplied by (ii) adjusted net income before tax per unit multiplied by (iii) up to 0.001%. Adjusted net income before tax per unit is equal to the net income before taxes for the relevant fiscal period prior to deducting type 1 asset management fees, type 2 asset management fees and type 3 asset management fees and the non-deductible consumption taxes applicable thereto (including any loss carried forward, if applicable) divided by the number of units outstanding as of the end of the relevant fiscal period. B: (i) investment unit performance against TSE REIT Index multiplied by (ii) market capitalization multiplied by (iii) up to 0.1%. Investment unit performance against TSE REIT Index equals (a) minus (b), where (a) is equivalent to (the closing price of MEL's investment unit on the last business day of the first month of the relevant fiscal period minus the closing price of MEL's investment unit on the last business day of the first month of the fiscal period immediately preceding the relevant fiscal period plus distributions per unit for the fiscal period immediately preceding the relevant fiscal period) divided by the closing price of MEL's investment unit on the last business day of the first month of the fiscal period immediately preceding the relevant fiscal period multiplied by 100 (%), and (b) is equivalent to (the closing TSE REIT Index (including dividends) on the last business day of the first month of the relevant fiscal period divided by the closing TSE REIT Index (including dividends) on the last business day of the first month of the fiscal period immediately preceding the relevant fiscal period, minus one) multiplied by 100 (%).

Market capitalization for purposes calculating type 3 asset management fees is equal to the closing price of MEL's investment unit on the last business day of the first month of the relevant fiscal period multiplied by number of units outstanding as of the last business day of the first month of the relevant fiscal period.

- Acquisition/Disposition Fee. For each new property that MEL acquires or disposes, the Asset Manager receives an acquisition fee or disposition fee equal to up to 1.0% or 0.5% of the acquisition price or disposition price, respectively (excluding national and local consumption taxes and expenses), payable within a month of the acquisition or disposition.
- Merger Fee. The Asset Manager receives a merger fee for services related to each of MEL's consolidation-type/absorption-type merger, including for investigating and evaluating the assets of the counter party, of up to 1.0% of the aggregated appraisal amount as of the effective date of the merger. The merger fee is payable by MEL within three months of the effective date of merger.
